MARSHALL IS HEADED BACK TO PENTAGON

General to Fill Post Made Vacant by Resignation of Secretary of Defense Johnson

PLAN LAW AMENDMENT

BULLETIN
Washington, Sept. 13—(P)—President Truman formally asked Congress today to pass a law to let Gen. George C. Marshall become an exception in placing a military man at the head of the defense establishment. The Senate armed services committee immediately went into a closed session to consider the request. Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) told reporters that what Mr. Truman clearly wants is that the exception be made to apply to no other person than Marshall, and at no other time. An amendment to prevent law is necessary if Marshall is to succeed the resigned Louis Johnson as secretary of defense. Mr. Truman wrote Tydings and Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the corresponding house committee, asking for the necessary legislation and enclosing a draft.

Washington, Sept. 13—(P)—George Catlett Marshall, soldier by profession and diplomat by experience, is headed back to the Pentagon to become secretary of defense.

President Truman turned to the 69-year-old, five-star general and former secretary of state to replace Louis Johnson.

Johnson, bowing to presidential will and the "enemies I have acquired during the eighteen months I have served as a member of your cabinet," submitted his resignation yesterday. Mr. Truman accepted it with official regret—but with alacrity.

Suddenly, in a single day, there were vacancies pending in the two top civilian posts of the huge and complex national military establishment.

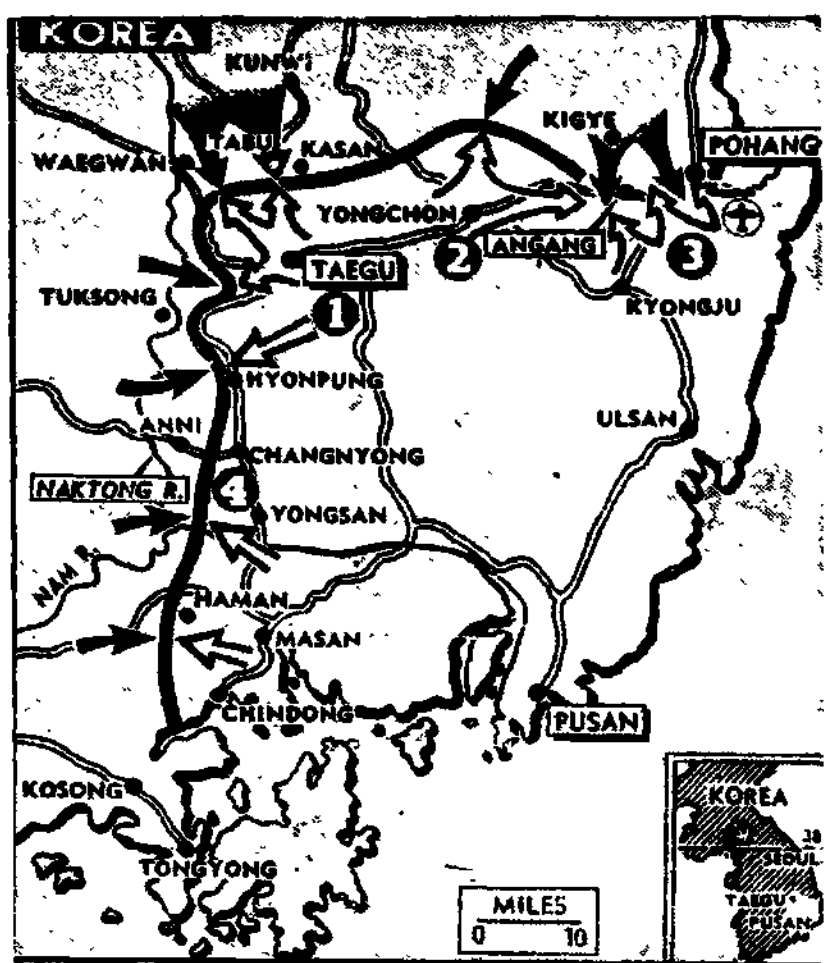

For what appeared to be entirely personal reasons, Stephen Early resigned as deputy secretary. He had remained well past the year's leave granted him by the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co., so that he could return to government work. None of the criticism that had welled up around Johnson had touched Early.

Johnson's resignation is effective next Tuesday, Early's Sept. 30. Johnson, in his resignation letter, said that Marshall was a "man of such stature that the very act of naming him to be secretary of defense will promote national and international unity."

The president heartily agreed, and most congressional leaders expressed accord, but there was a legal hurdle.

The law which created the United States Department of Defense contains a clause prohibiting the appointment as defense secretary of any man who within ten years has

Simple Procedure Announced For Some Landlords To Secure Rent Hike Permits

Hundreds of small landlords in Warren county who have not had a rent increase since June 30, 1944, may now by a very simple procedure secure an immediate fifteen percent increase to compensate for higher costs of operating and maintaining their property it was announced today by the Warren County Rent Advisory Board.

The board, concerned over the failure of many small landlords to petition the Rent Office for a rent increase to which they were generally entitled on the basis of present increased cost of taxes and services over freeze date costs, has provided a simplified and streamlined petition procedure by which such landlords can secure a fifteen percent increase in rent. Landlords are required to fill in only four simple bits of information on the petition in addition to signing their name. No bills or financial data need to be submitted.

"A small landlord, according to the Rent Advisory Board definition for the purpose of the new petition procedure," explained C. W. Barwis, Board Chairman, "is one who owns structures containing no more than four rental housing units. All such small landlords need do, to secure an increase on units where the legal rent is still what it was on June 30, 1944, is sign a simple one-page petition form, giving his name and address, the tenant's name and address, the June 30, 1947 legal maximum rent on the accommodation, and the new rent he now wishes to charge. This new rent, however, may not be in excess of fifteen percent above the June 30, 1947 legal rent. In signing this petition, the landlord certifies that he has maintained the essential services and equipment required under the rent regulations and that he will continue to do so."

There will be no long drawn-out waiting period for approval of these petitions.

"Within ten days after the receipt of a petition," Frank S. Anderson, area rent director, assured, "the Erie area rent office will approve the requested rent if it complies with the specified conditions, and will mail copies of approval to both landlord and tenant. The new increased rental becomes effective, under the federal rent law, on the approval date stamped on the petition."

Camp Atterbury Population Increases With Arrival of More Units of the 28th

Camp Atterbury, Ind., Sept. 13—(P)—The population of Camp Atterbury increased again today as more members of the 28th Division of the Pennsylvania National Guard arrived.

Four trains loaded came into the camp yesterday, completing the movement of troops by train. The trucks start coming in today and all are expected by tomorrow. Actual training will not start until Monday.

Heavy rains fell most of the time as the troops left the trains yesterday, formed into companies and then piled into covered trucks for the trip to their barracks in the sprawling, soaked camp.

The Division's band also was on hand to greet the boys from the Keystone state.

While the weather was gloomy, the camp didn't appear to be such a desolate and forlorn place. During the years of inactivity since the Second World War a good stand of grass had appeared, taking away that stark atmosphere.

After the men were unloaded, their first chore was to put their barracks in order. That took only a few minutes. As the result they haven't much to do until their equipment arrives and actual training gets underway.

ENGINEER IS WITNESS IN WRECK PROBE

Testifies at Triple Probe He Was Trying to Make Up Lost Time When Collision Occurred

VISIBILITY IS RESTRICTED

Pittsburgh, Sept. 13—(P)—A spare, graying Pennsylvania Railroad engineer testified today he was trying to make up time when his crack passenger train rammed the rear of a troop train, killing 33 National Guardsmen.

William Eller, 65-year-old engineer of the Pennsylvania "Spirit of St. Louis," testified in near whispers at the opening of an investigation into the fatal Ohio crash by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the railroad, the Ohio Public Utility Commission and the Army.

Eller testified he was 29 minutes late leaving Pittsburgh and had lost another minute enroute. He said visibility at the time of the wreck in the pre-dawn hours Monday was restricted because of fog. The crash occurred near Coshocton, Ohio.

The veteran engineer, described by his fireman as one of the most alert and capable men I know, told how he reduced speed but "not enough" at the first approach block before the stalled troop train.

Eller guessed his speed at the time at 50 miles per hour. ICC regulations require that speed be reduced to 30 miles-an-hour at an approach block so the train can come to a complete stop at the next stop and proceed sign.

The engineer testified he did not apply his service brake until he reached the stop and proceed signal near the crash scene. He said he did not apply his emergency brake until he passed the signal.

At about the time he passed the "stop and proceed" signal, Eller admitted he saw the stalled troop train. He said:

"It was very close."

In reply to an ICC question as to whether both wayside and cab signals were working properly, Eller murmured:

"Yes."

Eller said he saw the flares and signals set out at the rear of the troop train by a flagman aboard the stalled train.

He said he applied the emergency brake immediately.

Eller's fireman, E. J. Kearns, testified Eller was "one of the most alert, capable men in railroad service."

Kearns said he saw the flagman of the stalled troop train standing just east of the automobile (Turn to Page Eight)

Lottsville Child Dies In Erie Hospital After Brief Illness From Bulbar Polio

Dorothy Martin, 8-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, of Lottsville, died at 8:20 p. m. yesterday after being stricken by bulbar type polio last Saturday. Not considered serious at first, the youngster walked into the hospital when she was admitted, but she grew rapidly worse.

She attended Lottsville schools where she was enrolled in the third grade, and also attended Lottsville Methodist church and Sunday school.

Besides her parents, she is survived by one brother, Donald. Removal has been made to the proposal was discarded on the grounds the public had no right to interfere with the mourners' private plans.

Even today, 48 hours after the shattering crash on a fog-shrouded Ohio track there was some uncertainty about the casualty list. Only 28 bodies had been identified, and at least five families, advised their men were "missing," awaited the grim final word.

Former Warren Co. Resident One of Eight Victims of Blast In Powder Factory Near Eldred

A former Warren county resident, with relatives in this city and Clarendon, Harry Nelson, 58, was one of the eight victims of the explosion at the National Powder Company plant near Eldred Tuesday.

Mr. Nelson was born in Cherry Grove August 8, 1892, and has resided in Duke Center for the past 23 years. He had been a stationary engineer at the factory for the past 15 years.

He was a veteran of World War I, a member of the Duke Center Methodist church, Northern Star Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, 355, and the Coudersport Consistory.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Esther Nelson; a daughter, Martha Jean, Duke Center; two sisters, Mrs. Mertie Eastwood, Santa Ana, Calif., and Mrs. Hannah Johnson, Warren; three brothers, Meryl, Cleveland; Andrew, Warren; Frank, Clarendon.

Services under the direction of the Gallup Funeral Home, Port Allegany, will be held from the late residence of Mr. Nelson at Duke Center Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

Besides killing instantly eight workmen the dynamite blast shattered a large part of the plant. According to an Associated Press dispatch President William F. Grow was unable to estimate the property loss. He said work will continue and the ruined mixing house will be rebuilt.

The blast tore to bits some of the men working in the steel-and-frame structure. A list of the dead was withheld for five hours before being released by the coroner's office. Killed were:

Charles York, 22; Harry Nelson, 58; Carl Fitzgerald, 30; Robert Walker, 40; Gene Shepard, 24; James Silvis, 30; Earl Logie, 26; and C. A. Sherwood, 34. All lived in the vicinity of Eldred.

Five or six other employees suffered minor injuries.

The explosion was heard 10 miles away and windows were shattered in a two-mile radius.

Ambulances sped to the scene from Olean, Portville, Kane and Port Allegany.

Some of the victims were blown to bits as the blast destroyed the three-story corrugated steel structure where ingredients are mixed in the production of dynamite.

Terrified relatives and friends stood silently along the highway and near the company office as Pennsylvania State Police, Coroner Elmer Beatty of Bradford and undertakers began the grim task of combing the ruins for bodies so that identification, which took several hours, could be made.

In Eldred, Duke Center and other nearby communities residents dropped their routine duties during the painful suspense of awaiting news of those who lost their life in the morning tragedy.

One hysterical woman at the scene rushed down the road when she saw her husband had escaped death, threw her arms around his neck and wouldn't let go until they were in their car.

Another nearby resident, Mrs. Silvis, was not so fortunate. (Turn to Page Eight)

Southwest Front: U. S. artillery pushes back two Red attempts to take high positions.

Tokyo, Sept. 13—(P)—Allied troops got word today that they will kick off on the offensive soon against the big Red Korean war machine they have battled to a standstill for a month.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Allied ground commander in Korea, said in a fighting talk to his frontline troops:

"Soon we are going to give up the attitude of defense as soon as we start forward and break the crust in front of us, the enemy will fold."

"We can feel a weakening of the enemy now... in some positions they actually are pulling out."

The U. S. Eighth Army commander described the long weeks of delaying action as necessary "agony and suffering."

Only through such an ordeal, he said, could the Allies build up power for an offensive.

Walker's fighting talk came as Allied troops flattened the Red Korean bulge on the northeast front in a triple-threat power drive.

The United Nations gains in a three-day offensive were the greatest in nearly a month. They sealed much of the gap torn last week by Communists in their massive breakthrough south from Kyongju near the east coast.

Resurgent South Korean troops, driving east from Yongchon and northwest from Kyongju, rolled back the Communists.

To the east, a mixed force of South Koreans and Americans rammed about the southern gate of a mountain corridor, trapping 3,000 Red Koreans.

The task force was led by 47-year-old Brig. Gen. Gar Davidson, former West Point football coach and right end. It was a brilliant and sweep west from the Pohang area by "task force Davidson."

Resignation Seen As Strengthening Acheson Policies

New York, Sept. 13—(AP)—Defense Secretary Johnson's resignation was seen by U. S. and foreign diplomats at the big-three meeting here today as a move strengthening Secretary of State Acheson in his drive to speed up the organization of a strong Atlantic alliance defense force in western Europe.

President Truman's decision to name former Secretary of State George Marshall to succeed Johnson reinforced the view that Acheson policies will now have full and vigorous support of the Truman cabinet without the frictions and delays which have been attributed to the so-called Johnson-Acheson feud.

Loading of Freight Cars Is Speeded Up

Washington, Sept. 13—(AP)—Speedier handling of railway freight traffic "to promote the national defense" was ordered yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The new spur to defense mobilization sets a 24-hour limit to the turn around of freight cars ready to move.

One section of the order called for a stiff increase in "demurrage" rates paid by shippers for keeping freight cars idle beyond the 48-hour free time period allowed for loading and unloading.

The charges were set at $5 a car per day for the first and second days after free time, $10 a car for the third and fourth days, and $20 for each succeeding day.

The present rate is $3 a day for four days and $6 a day thereafter.

Another section of the order directed railroads to have loaded cars in a position for unloading within 24 hours after arrival at a terminal point. Then, when the cars are unloaded and perhaps reloaded with a new consignment of goods, the railroads must get them rolling within 24 hours.

The fourth annual Scouters steak fry and corn roast for the Boy Scout Leaders of the Warren Boy Scout Council will be held at Wildcat Park, Ludlow next Saturday. The steak fry will be the opening event of the fall program, with the dinner being served at 6:30 o'clock.

Every effort is being made to achieve a record attendance at the annual event. All Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, Troop and Pack Committeemen, Council Committee members and Executive Board members have been invited as well as former Scouts and those men who would like to serve in Scouting.

Fourth Annual Scouters Steak Fry and Corn Roast at Wildcat Park Saturday

This gala gathering of Scouters for fun, fellowship and food will launch the fall program of the Boy Scout Council which will include the Victory Round-up and Roll Call. Plans are being made for the inspection of all units during the early part of October.

Preliminary reports indicate a large attendance at Saturday's affair and Scouters are urged to secure their tickets from their committee chairman or call the Boy Scout office.

Committees planning for this event are headed by W. L. Wehner, attendance; C. A. Babcock, program; and C. H. Gardner, food. Other Scouters are serving on these committees.

By The Associated Press
Senator Charles W. Tobey, self-styled liberal fighting one of the toughest battles of his political career, won nomination to a third term in New Hampshire's rough and tumble Republican primary Tuesday.

The 70-year-old lawmaker squeezed by with a 1,127 vote margin over 34-year-old Wesley Powell, World War II veteran and former secretary to Senator Styles Bridges (R-NH). He said he will ask for a recount.

States voting, besides New Hampshire, were Arizona, Colorado, Michigan, Minnesota, Vermont and Washington. Involved were four other senate seats, 41 house memberships and six governorships.

Here's a summary of top races in those states:

Arizona—Senator Carl Hayden and other members of the Democratic congressional delegation were renominated. Their Republican foes in the general election had no primary opposition.

Colorado—Senator Eugene D. Milliken was renominated by Republicans without a contest. The Democratic nominee is Rep. John A. Cantell.

Vermont—Winston L. Prouty, 44-year-old lumber dealer, making his first bid for a statewide office, won the Republican nomination to the state's only seat in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Michigan—Republicans picked former Gov. Harry F. Kelly as their candidate to oppose Democratic Governor George A. Romney.

Camp Atterbury Population Increases With Arrival of More Units of the 28th

Camp Atterbury, Ind., Sept. 13—(AP)—The population of Camp Atterbury increased again today as more members of the 28th Division of the Pennsylvania National Guard arrived.

Four trains loads came into the camp yesterday, completing the movement of troops by train. The trucks start coming in today and all are expected by tomorrow. Actual training will not start until Monday.

Heavy rains fell most of the time as the troops left the trains yesterday, formed into companies and then piled into covered trucks for the trip to their barracks in the sprawling, soaked camp.

The Division's Band also was on hand to greet the boys from the Keystone state.

While the weather was gloomy, the camp didn't appear to be such a desolate and forlorn place. During the years of inactivity since the Second World War a good stand of grass had appeared, taking away that stark atmosphere.

After the men were unloaded, their first chore was to put their barracks in order. That took only a few minutes. As the result they haven't much to do until their equipment arrives and actual training gets underway.

Following are included among

School Superintendent Submits Report On Alterations Made During Summer

Items carried out under contract included completion and furnishing of the Home street addition; new furniture for one room at the high school, two rooms at South street, one at McClintock and the Beaty Music room; new lights in one room at Johnson; six kindergarten rooms equipped; new heating plant installed at Seneca; gas heater installed in the high school home economics room; kitchen range in the high school cafeteria; all stokers inspected and repaired; new motion picture machine at Beaty; new piano at Seneca; drinking fountains at East, Johnson and South repaired.

Janitors of the school district were given the assignments for a number of other vacation-time improvements, with McClintock rooms washed and painted where needed; Lacy building woodwork in the corridors gym-sealed, one room at Beaty painted; floors in the new kindergarten rooms, two high school rooms, and upstairs rooms at McClintock sanded and resealed; sidewalk at Home street building repaired.

Items not completed in time for presentation of the report include roof repairs, lights for two rooms at the high school and a backstage curtain at Beaty.

Index of General Business In July Tops That of 1949

State College—For the fifth consecutive month, the index of general business in July was above the corresponding month of last year, but it fell 5 points from its peak of 290 in June.

The Bureau of Business Research at the Pennsylvania State College today reported these figures, pointing out that a year ago the index was 245. The index is based upon bank deposits, industrial power sales and factory payrolls, and uses the years 1935-1939 as 100.

Most of the series showed a decline from June to July, but gains were reported in factory payrolls, factory employment, employee hours, and crude petroleum production.

The gains in the first three of these series are considered significant in that they indicate income and activity of the individuals in the State. Any increase in them should be reflected by increases in general business activity in the near future.

While all areas showed large percentages of gain in 1950 over 1949, the percentages ranging from 27 in Altoona to 7 in Chester, only five areas reported gains in July over June. They were Harrisburg 3, Johnstown 6, New Castle 4, Oil City 3, and Chester 6.

Areas and the percentage of loss reported are Allentown 5; Bethlehem 7; Erie 7; Lancaster 3; Philadelphia 5; Pittsburgh 1; Sharon 11; Scranton 6; Wilkes-Barre 4; and Williamsport 4. Altoona and Easton reported no change from June to July.

The index of general business for the oil field area rose 3% from June to July with increases in factory payrolls and bank deposits. The index was 16% above last year. All components of the index increased substantially with factory payrolls lagging behind industrial power sales and bank deposits.

Month-to-month declines but year-to-year rises were the general rule for Bradford and Warren series. The important contrast was in building operations which were very high for Warren but down for Bradford.

All series improved from last July, but several series showed declines from June to July. The general picture was considerably better than it had been in the early part of 1950. Employment and payrolls for the year to date are still running behind 1949.

The RANGE DOCTOR

by OSCAR J. FRIEND

Chapter 25

THE rancher nodded grimly. "I was on the Clearwater stage while it was happenin'," he told Logan. "I left the boys in Kansas to trail home while I took the train. I wish now I'd brought 'em on with me. I've sent Nolly Sims out to the ranch to bring in the rest of the men to make up a posse. But where is Tom Griggsby? We can't wait on Matlock for action. We're goin' to ride after them galoots tonight."

Logan, having finally assimilated this staggering information, voiced a pertinent question. "But do you know where you're riding, Mr. Barton?"

"Not exactly," the rancher admitted reluctantly. "But fifteen or twenty men leave a pretty clear trail. We're just arguin' now about the most likely place the 'outlaws''ll head for—if they don't split up, and they probably won't do that before dividin' their loot. I can't understand what's happened to Tom."

"Where's Overstreet?" Logan inquired, looking around the room again and missing the distinctive figure of the gambler.

"I left him at the Texas Tommy checkin' up on his losses," Hawkins informed. "He'll be along shortly."

"It was fortunate nobody was injured," Mollie put in soberly. Logan turned his attention to the two girls. "And you didn't hear or see anything of Uncle Tom?"

"I'm beginning to worry about him, Bob. What do you think could have happened to him?" Logan started to say he had no idea when a stray thought struck him. The idea appalled him and he looked sickly from one girl to the other. Before he could speak a man came in from the hall and called to him.

"Doc Logan, there's a feller at the door askin' to see yuh." Logan excused himself and went out. He found Jess Plum on the porch.

"Couldn't find ye at yore office," Plum apologized. "What's this I hear about a town hold-up?"

"There was a big one here this afternoon," Logan told him, quickly giving the main details. "Did your man go over to Frijole Flats?"

"He did, and ye was right on the nail head, Doc. Tod Ramsey went over and learned there was a regular gang workin' with this Holcomb feller and that John Naylor. He let on like he wanted to jine up, but he couldn't 'cause the whole bunch was away on business. So Tod come back and reported to me. Ye reckon that was the bunch that raided town?"

"I haven't the slightest doubt of it, but that may take some proving, Jess."

"That's what I figured," Plum said. "Course I didn't know about this town raid, but I got eight mountain men with me, countin' Slim and Tod. You and me make ten. What are yore orders, Doc?"

Logan was startled. "I haven't any orders for you men, Jess. I only wanted you to get information that I couldn't. I'm grateful for it."

"Hold on, Doc," the mountaineer interrupted. "I know ye got the guts to do it, but if ye think we're goin' to let ye ride into that outlaw nest by yoreself ye got another think comin'. Me and the boys are ridin' with ye."

"Have you told them anything about—about me?"

"Nary a word. That's a secret between ye and me. I jest told 'em that Holcomb is wanted for murder and Naylor was the man who killed yore paw."

LOGAN thought swiftly. It wouldn't do any harm for the justice committee to have the additional strength of the Plum contingent.

"Good men," said Logan. "Tell them to get ready to ride. I must go in and tell the judge and Henry Barton."

He went back into the house as Plum faded into the darkness. He got his two men off to one side.

"I just got word that Naylor and Holcomb have organized a gang over at Frijole Flats," he told them. "They were away from that settlement this afternoon. You can put two and two together, and you'll save a lot of time by sending the posse straight to Frijole Flats."

"Who told you this, son?" the judge inquired.

Logan told him. "I do a lot of practice among mountain folks," he explained. "They tell me everything they hear."

"That's all we need to know," Barton declared. "We'll start with Frijole Flats. Tell the boys. That."

Judge Steele rapped for order and made his announcement. There were shouts of enthusiasm and calls of inquiry. The confusion was so loud that nobody heard the knocking at the door.

Finally Hawkins answered the call, admitting Overstreet and Sheriff Matlock.

Overstreet hurried into the crowded parlour. Matlock followed as far as the threshold, where he halted to survey the gathering in faint astonishment and came to rest against the door frame.

"Sorry I'm late," Overstreet said, "but I had to check everything at the Texas Tommy myself. My man d'Auberg is unaccountably missing. And—"

It was the first time in Logan's recollection that Overstreet had appeared visibly disturbed or annoyed.

"Speak up, man," the judge urged. Overstreet made a deprecatory gesture. "I should have mentioned this before, but Tom Griggsby made me promise to keep silent. Griggsby went to Frijole Flats early this morning, and I'm afraid something has happened to him."

This statement created a stir. Barton waved down the noise. "Tom went to Frijole Flats?" he repeated. "Alone?"

Overstreet nodded silently. "You should have told me sooner, Overstreet," the judge rebuked.

"I realize that now, but Griggsby swore me to secrecy," the gambling-house owner said, glancing at Logan.

Logan stared at the man who had substantiated his sudden hunch as to the whereabouts of Griggsby. He felt like groaning in the anguish of his spirit for not having guessed before. He himself had told Griggsby about Nolly Sims and his sister. He should have known that the fiery little editor would investigate, would not have depended on the slothful sheriff. Now, in view of the latest developments, he feared for Griggsby's life.

THE MARSHALL APPOINTMENT

The appointment of Gen. George C. Marshall to succeed Louis Johnson as secretary of defense in President Truman's cabinet, is commented upon in the following pertinent manner by James Marlow, Associated Press feature writer in Washington:

"This writer has great respect for General George C. Marshall as a man, as a citizen, as a soldier, and as a public servant.

"So what follows here is not meant as a criticism of him. But his selection by President Truman to succeed Louis Johnson as secretary of defense raises one question at once:

"Why, in a country of 150,000,000 people, does one man, like General Marshall, have to serve in one critical job after another? Are no other men capable of filling critical jobs well?

"Marshall was chief of staff during World War II. He retired in 1945, thinking that after his long Army career and World War duties he could get a well-earned rest.

"But the situation in China—between Chiang Kai-Shek and the Communists—was so bad that Mr. Truman called the general out of retirement and sent him to China as the one man capable of mediating the dispute.

"Then when Marshall finished that job, Mr. Truman asked him to be secretary of state. A good man was needed. Marshall was a good man. He served until ill health forced him to retire again to private life.

"He's 69 years old. And now, with the nation in a dither over its defenses, Marshall once more is asked to help the country out.

"Granted that Marshall is one of the outstanding men of his time, it still is some kind of commentary on the other 150,000,000 people that one man repeatedly has to be called on to bail his country out of trouble.

"Then there's another question: How will Marshall make out if Congress approves his appointment as Secretary of Defense? Elections are coming in November. Few people are scared in politics. Will he get a political kicking around?

"Until now the Republicans have been blaming Secretary of State Dean Acheson for our China policy."

FACTS ON VOTING

To be able to vote, you must be a qualified elector, and to become one, you must be sure to be registered at the Court House in the permanent registration file. The best way is to vote at each primary and election and remain registered. Should you miss voting for two consecutive years, your name is dropped from the list and you must re-register.

All persons becoming of age or having a 21st birthday on or before November 7, 1950, may register.

Any person, formerly a resident of Pennsylvania, who has moved out of the state and then returned, must be a resident here at least six months before November 7, 1950 in order to be eligible to register and vote.

Any person moving into Pennsylvania for the first time must have resided here at least one year before November 7, 1950 to be eligible to register and vote.

C. P. DeLong, registration clerk for Warren county, has announced that his office will be open on Thursday and Friday of this week until 9 p. m., and on Saturday until 5 p. m. in order to give persons who wish to qualify for the November 7 election a chance to do so.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, IS THE LAST DAY UPON WHICH TO REGISTER FOR THIS PERIOD.

A HEADLINE HEADACHE

Probably nobody was sorer to see Mayor O'Dwyer resign in New York than the city's newspaper headline writers. For in his stead they now must contend with a chap named Vincent R. Impellitteri.

It's hard to guess at this writing just how often Impellitteri will break into the news. But when he does he is almost automatically assured of double-column coverage.

Maybe the headline men should borrow a leaf from the sportswriters' book. There used to be a ball player around named William Wambsganss. He was famous for making an unassisted triple play in the 1920 world series. The country's sports pages refused to deal with that jaw-breaker. In box scores our fielding hero was known for years as just "Wamby."

So Impellitteri might "L. Impy" or, in the Washington tradition of nicknaming, "Vincent the Imp." There must be some way to cope with that forest of tall consonants.

Here And There

This And That: Members of the Pennsylvania Week-Potato Festival planning committee expect to know early next month when Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson can be in Corry for formal presentation of a plaque and scroll as that city's selection as a "Pennsylvania Week ambassador." Jackson informed a committee that visited him in Jamestown while he was there addressing a bar association meeting, that he will know soon after October 6th when he will be free from his duties long enough to make the trip. . . . William Chestnut, state secretary of labor, made a hurried trip from Warren to Erie and back Monday in connection with his scheduled appearance at the Industrial safety conference. He stopped at the Corry office en route to confer with officials. . . . J. R. Cober, manager of the Warren office of the Bell Telephone Co., was the speaker at the meeting of the Kane Rotary Club Monday. . . . Announcement has been made in Corry that the picnic scheduled for Saturday by the Raymond Mfg. Co., has been called off because of the polo scare in that city. . . . By way of celebrating the 14-7 victory over Warren High's football team Corry school officials dismissed classes early in Senior High school Monday afternoon. . . . The securities and exchange commission in Washington is expected to authorize the National Fuel Gas Company of New York to purchase a large amount of additional stock in the Pennsylvania Gas Company of this city. National already owns 52.53 per cent of the stock. . . . Ross L. Leffler, Pittsburgh, chairman of the State Game Commission, among other important posts, holds the position of Allegheny county Civilian Defense coordinator, brought a grim reminder to listeners in his talk at the Industrial safety rally Monday night at the YWCA, when he said Warren has a definite place on the defense program for Allegheny county. Speaking of safety on the highways he remarked that it is strange how quickly a man changes when he gets behind the steering wheel of a car. He suggested as a slogan for highway safety: "Let's try a little more courtesy!" . . . A record attendance of 65,000 persons for the six-day Chautauqua County Fair at Dunkirk, topped by 15,000 the opening day is reported by Carlton J. Larson, manager, who says the figure is about ten percent higher than that of the 1949 fair, which ran seven days. . . . The Jamestown High school football team will open the season Saturday night, September 23, with Kenmore furnishing the opposition. . . . The closing night's record of 10,000 nearly doubled the day's figure of 10,000, making approximately 20,000 for the final day. . . . An inter-county safety rally, similar to the one held in Warren Monday evening, is scheduled for next Monday evening in the K. of C. hall in Oil City, with Ross L. Leffler, of Pittsburgh, giving the principal address.

Morning Roundup: Teddy Marchbroda, the sophomore passing sensation from Franklin, is proving quite a surprise as a ball carrier in the Orange-Bonnie scrimmage, according to a press release. In addition, he showed the poise of a veteran in directing the attack. Warren grid fans long ago were impressed with these qualities about the Nursery athlete. . . . An invitation has been received by the Warren Lodge of Elks to attend the 50th anniversary celebration of Johnsbury Lodge, No. 612 to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and according to reports the local organization will have a representation there. . . . An agitation is already under way to have the borough either forget all about daylight saving time next summer, or set the time for returning to eastern standard the first Sunday in September—or before the schools resume. . . . Several hundred dollars will be needed to finance the very worthwhile safety campaign, the Green Pennant Program, in the county this year. Here's a chance for local clubs, societies and individuals to help pay the way on a project that does as much to protect children on the highways as anything else ever promoted. Don't wait to be asked. Just send your check to Sgt. Jim Vaughn, State Police Baracks, Warren.

Railway Freight Car Shortage Poses Vital Transport Problem

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The next two months are a big test for U. S. railroads, even if the threatened strike of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors is settled. The Switchmen's Union, other non-operating brotherhoods and the four brotherhoods of operating railwaymen have other grievances in various stages of negotiation before National Mediation Board panels and Emergency Boards.

Before these manpower problems are settled, however, a more material problem may come to a head in a shortage of railway freight cars.

At the end of August, the railroads were reporting a shortage of about 36,000 freight cars a day.

Figures gathered by the car reporting service of American Association of Railroads here in Washington show a shortage of 22,200 box cars for general freight, 7800 hopper cars, 6500 gondolas and 1500 flats.

So far, demands for moving military cargo to the west coast have been given priority. Movement of the winter wheat crop from the southwest was met without too much protest, although some grain always has to be piled in the open to await cars.

Movement of the winter wheat crop from the northwest in August and September is followed by heavy cargoes of sugar beets and soy beans, bringing the customary peak fall demand. Coal movements usually get heavy in October.

What has caused the shortage during the summer is analyzed principally as an early movement of Christmas trade and a general business activity.

Four other factors are outlined as contributing to today's car shortage. One is the five-day week. While there is no ban against railroads operating a full seven days as they did formerly, the overtime pay provisions make management try to cut down on full-week operation. Staggering of shifts, so that there is seven-day operation even with crews on five-day weeks, has not been worked out.

A second factor has been strikes in other major industries—coal and autos, for instance—which put the roads months behind on their movement of freight.

Third is the inability to get box cars loaded heavier. Under Office of Defense Transportation controls in war times, there were strict orders on loading cars to near capacity.

When those controls were lifted, the roads went back to old practices. Railroad management now says the matter of loading is up to the shipper. If a shipper wants a car, an effort is made to give it to him. What he puts in it is his business.

No one has yet produced a plan for voluntary agreements by the railroads or by the shippers to correct this general abuse.

Scrapping of old cars was deferred during the war. Every effort was made to repair cars and keep them in service. The scrapping rate had to be stepped up when the war was over. There were steel shortages to make the building of new cars more difficult.

From 1947 to 1949 the railroads did actually install more new cars than they scrapped. Then in 1949 came the depression. It wasn't much of a depression, but it was enough to cut railroad earnings. U. S. railroads' combined reports show they are now taking delivery on about 3500 new cars a month. They hope to step it up to 5000 to 7000 a month. They say there are 64,000 cars on order. There are reported plans for ordering 200,000 more cars in the next three years. But it's a race to see whether new cars can be delivered as fast as business expands in today's boom.

COLE HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Segolski, Tidoute, were visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. V. W. Nelson, at Pittsfield Saturday. Mr. Segolski is rebuilding a chimney of their home which was struck by lightning in one of the recent electric storms.

One morning last week, about daylight, an Ohio car traveling east on Route 27 near the Andy Zolko farm, struck and killed a doe which attempted to run across the road in front of the car. According to Mike Linvoy, employee of the farm, the car skidded 40 feet on the pavement trying to avoid hitting the deer. The right fender and light of the car were damaged by the impact. The carcass of the deer was taken by Warden R. C. Bailey, Youngsville, to the Rouse Home at Youngsville.

The four mile stretch of road widening on Route 27 and resurfacing has been completed by the Smith Construction Co., between Torpedo and Newton and on Goodwill Hill, south of Grand Valley. The barns are being graded and will soon be finished. The road is two feet wider with a black-top surface.

Paul Mitchell, East Branch, and W. C. Leofsky, Garland, have been threshing oats for the farmers in this section with their threshing machines. Seymour Upton, Mickie Hill, has been combining oats for some of the farmers.

Arvid Johnson, Pittsfield, is recovering from an injured leg and other bruises received recently when he fell from a tractor after he had fainted. His helper stopped the tractor before it ran over him. Mr. Johnson was setting up his threshing machine at Lottsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reslink, who live on the Moore farm near Garland, are the parents of a daughter, Dorothy Jean, born last Wednesday.

The farmers in this section have started filling their silos with corn. Several have second crop clover in their silos for grass ensilage.

Larry Sutton, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Merie Sutton, Grand Valley, returned home Saturday from St. Vincent's Hospital at Erie, following an operation for a blood clot on his left eye caused by a bb shot fired accidentally by his cousin, Buddy Sutton, while at play at the latter's home at Pittsfield. The little boys were having target practice when a bb bounced from the ground and struck the lad in the eye two weeks ago. Dr. Delaney, Erie, performed the operation and it is not known whether the boy will lose his sight pending another visit to the doctor Thursday. Larry Sutton is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Dey, Torpedo, and son of the former Miss Sylvia Dey. Buddy Sutton is the seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sutton, Pittsfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds and the latter's sister, Bessie Hall, Pittsburgh, are visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McConnell at Torpedo.

Mrs. Jennie Tarr, Jamestown, N. Y., is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Dey, Torpedo.

HALE AND HEARTY AT 91: Casper Leuthold, born in Switzerland 91 years ago Sept. 4, and a resident of the Cobham Park road for the past 43 years, is shown above as he was found by a staff photographer, sitting on an improvised seat, in front of his woodshed facing the highway, where he enjoys relaxing as he watches the passing traffic. He is in exceptionally good health for one of his years, and devotes much of his time cutting wood which is stacked alongside the building against which he is resting, but now shown in the picture. He has seven children, eleven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

For GOOD-ness Sake
By Betty Rice

In Danville, N. Y., "many citizens have had first-hand opportunity to experience the need and value of the Red Cross Blood Program. Here is one testimonial from a person who actually received blood. Seventeen-year-old Anna Jaeger of R. D. 3, Olean, said recently: "I was ill and needed a blood transfusion very badly as I kept losing blood. The Red Cross made a special trip to Rochester to get the type of blood I needed. I practically looked like a ghost and felt very, very weak when I was first taken to the hospital. The way I felt at the time, I scarcely cared whether I lived or not. I received a transfusion the first night I was at the hospital and two more the next day and another the third day. By that time I could feel how the blood was strengthening me. I certainly appreciate what the Red Cross has done for me—I honestly believe that these blood transfusions saved my life. I think that every one who is physically able to give blood should do so when blood donor day comes around."

Miss Jaeger's experience is one of many—right in Warren people have benefited from Red Cross free blood and in Korea whole blood is saving the lives of our armed forces. North Warren residents are urged to cooperate on September 19 and other folks throughout the county may sign up for future bloodmobile visits in Warren.

PTA groups and Mothers' Clubs are reminded that in connection with the local blood program a speaker can be made available to your group at no cost. The Red Cross chapter has over 30 trained speakers versed in this fascinating subject. Call 2926 if you need a speaker.

Youngsville BPW Planning Activities Of Coming Months

Youngsville, Sept. 13—An interesting and well attended meeting of Youngsville Business and Professional Women's Club was held Monday evening at the National Forge clubhouse.

Mrs. Vivian Smith presided at the business session. Following the devotionals the financial department reported on its work for last year and also gave some suggestions as to this season's financial plans. A rummage sale September 29-30 is to be held in the Grange Hall, and a card party will be given in October. Announcement was also made for the annual birthday party, recognition of the B. P. W. Business Week and plans for a Christmas party. Mrs. Nellie Anderson gave a very practical quiz on parliamentary rules. An invitation was extended to the club to attend the district meeting October 7th at Corry, one feature of which will be panel discussion on international relations with those who have been abroad taking part. Delegates and alternates were selected from the Youngsville Club.

The club president gave a fine report of the recent council she attended and a song period was enjoyed under the leadership of Helen Driscoll. Mrs. E. C. Stillings gave a very fine review of the book, "The Peabody Sisters of Salem."

A gift from the group was presented to Mrs. Hugh Schuler, club member and recent bride.

Delicious refreshments were served by the September committee, Mrs. Millie Harner, Mrs. Lola Walter, Mrs. Helen Unterreiner, Mrs. Edith Young and Mrs. Vivian Smith.

DORCAS CLASS

Dorcas Class members had an attendance of 40 persons at their monthly meeting in the parish house, with devotions conducted by President Elsie Rustau. An invitation to decorate the church for Harvest Sunday, extended by Pastor E. K. Rogers, was accepted by the group; and it was voted to place a service book in the church memorial to Mrs. Ina Speckman, who was a faithful member of the class.

Following the business session, a visitor, Mrs. Prenter, state inspector of juvenile homes, gave an interesting talk on her work, stressing improvements which have been made at the Lutheran Bethesda Home. Minnie Koebley, who heard Pastor Niemoller at Chautauqua this summer, gave an account of his life and escape from a German concentration camp. Mary Lou and Kay Hibner sang two selections, "Driftin'" and "Tell Me More of Jesus". Mary Jane Schueltz playing their accompaniments. Entertainment was in charge of Martha Schueltz and Bernice Swanson. To conclude the evening, refreshments were served by Sarah Jones, Gertrude Keller, Ida Beary and Olive Soderberg.

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB

Sugar Grove, Sept. 13—Girl Scout Neighborhood Club members held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. A. A. Grant, with women present from Lander, Chancellors Valley, Lottsville and this community; also Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Carr, Scout officers from Warren. Mrs. Grant is serving as temporary chairman in place of Mrs. Ellsworth Wright, who resigned. One of the items of business was appointment of the following nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the November meeting: Mrs. Floyd Nobbs, Chancellors Valley; Mrs. Melvin Johnson, Lottsville; and Mrs. Arvid Gruber, Lander.

AT CHRISTENING

Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Danas, with a number of friends from town, were in Salamanca, N. Y. Saturday for the christening of their granddaughter, Alexia Christine, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Verros. The service, held in the Episcopal church, was followed by a reception at the Country Club.

New Superintendent

In his new position as superintendent of Methodist affairs in the Jamestown District, Rev. Wayne Furman, leaving Warren's First church, will have general oversight of both city and rural churches and comes to the post with a wide experience record. He has served rural pastorates in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois, and was also a country school teacher for several years. His town and city work has been done at Johnsonburg, Erie, Greenville and Warren-First.

He has served the Erie Annual Conference as a member of the Board of Ministerial Training; worked 23 years as an active young people's leader, having been dean of the Conference Youth Institute for six years and a teacher in summer and winter institutes; during the past 14 years, has been chairman of the Conference on minimum salaries and sustentation.

Born at Strattonville, in Clarion county, he did his preparatory work at Clarion State Teachers College, South Dakota Wesleyan Academy, and Grove City College. Later, he was graduated from Muskingum College, New Concord, O., and from Garrett Biblical Institute, Methodist ministry operated in connection with Northwest University; and did graduate work at the University of Illinois.

Appointment of Mr. Furman to the superintendency of the Jamestown District does not come as a surprise to his congregation, for his name has been considered on numerous occasions for such responsibility; and, upon announcement of Dr. Charles T. Greer's retirement, it was obvious that the local man should be his logical successor.

He leaves the Warren church with an increased membership and with the congregation having made strong advancements in all of its departments. He has had a large and appreciative radio audience through his monthly WNAE broadcasts, also.

He has served the community through the various offices of the Warren County Ministerial Association, the Community Council of Religious Education, and as an active member of the Kiwanis Club.

Secret for Raising Children: Make Them Learn to MIND

MRS. SMITH has six children and obviously enjoys them.

Mrs. Brown has two, and in her own words they just about drive her crazy. Every time she gets away from them, she draws a deep sigh of relief. When she is with them, they aren't happy and she isn't either.

Yet Mrs. Brown loves her children probably as much as Mrs. Smith loves hers. What makes the difference?

You don't have to watch the mothers with their children very long to figure that out. Mrs. Smith's six children mind—to use an old-fashioned term. When she tells them to do something they do it. When she tells them they can't do something they don't tease and whine and argue.

Mrs. Brown's children rarely do anything the first time they are told—so Mrs. Brown has to keep at them, constantly. Nor can she ever be sure that they won't do the things that are forbidden. Because of that, she always has to keep a watchful eye on them.

It is routine for them to argue against anything they are told to do, for there is always a chance if they tease long enough they can get their own way.

"HOW COULD I RAISE 13?"

RECENTLY I read where the mother of 13 children, honored as her state's mother of the year, said: "I made them mind. I had to. My goodness, how could I raise 13 if they didn't mind?"

Well, you can raise one or two or even three or four children without making them mind, as many modern parents are proving.

But you can't enjoy their childhood. You can't get any real pleasure from them.

Look around you and you'll probably discover that the parents who enjoy their children most are the parents who make their children MIND.

Frontline Troops To Have Beer For Free

Tokyo, Sept. 13—(P)—Frontline troops in Korea who like beer will continue to get it—for free. This is on the word of a high army official who declined use of his name lest he get all foamed up in controversy. An army order yesterday removing the one-can-a-day ration in Korea, raised a howl of protest heard as far as Washington. The source said today this has resulted in a compromise. Combat troops had been getting a small can of beer as a free ration. Some of the boys who don't like beer wrote home about it. There were protests. Beer was stricken from the ration. "What was not made clear back home was that the beer was in addition to normal rations and did not take the place of other items," said the source. Under the new arrangements, no more beer will be furnished troops from appropriated funds—taxpayers' money allocated by congress. But the army has non-appropriated funds. This is revenue from small charges for various items in post exchanges and theatre admissions.

Only those who reside along the road and who hold written permits to use it will be allowed on the road. All others will be prosecuted according to law, say the supervisors.

The father's shirt sleeve caught on a prong of the cutter. He plunged headfirst in the machine. The son stopped the machinery too late to save his father.

Resignation Seen as Strengthening Policies

(From Page One) evening Acheson himself was given detailed press reports, but had nothing to say on the development. His associates were obviously cheered; some had chafed for months under an Acheson-imposed rule which said in effect that if Johnson wanted to feud with him it was Johnson's business, but Acheson's aides were not to fight back. They were to keep their mouths shut. The big-three sessions which opened yesterday afternoon, went into their second high-speed day amid evidence that the American secretary, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman were coming to grips with the key problem of the meeting—whether, when and how to fit German military units into the developing western defense system in Europe.

A scrap of paper taken from the shattered cab of a diesel locomotive may provide a clue today to the troop train wreck which killed 33 members of Pennsylvania's 28th Division. Persons familiar with locomotives expect that a paper tape speed recording machine—standing equipment on the diesels—will play an important part in the investigation which gets under way here today. The machine provides a record in the train's speed—an important detail in the case of a wreck.

RADIO ARRIVES Pennsylvania Railroad officials report that two-way radios, which arrived here today, will be installed in the DW tower in Warren and the DY tower at Corry to enable two-way talking with crews on moving trains. Where already installed, railroad men say that it has proved exceedingly useful, particularly in calling attention to hot-boxes as a train goes by the tower.

JUST ANOTHER RUMOR Rumors had it started that a panther had been seen by several people in the vicinity of the "big rocks" on the road to Scandia, but a phone call to one of the residents in that area quickly cleared the situation up. One brave gentleman has already volunteered to set out traps and set his dog after the beast.

THE MARKETS

New York, Sept. 13—(P)—Stock traders swamped the exchange with buying orders today. Gains piled up to around $1 a share before the most aggressive demand was satisfied. Dozens of issues sold at their best prices for 1950 or longer. The general price level hit a new four-year peak and the bull group, for the second day running, reached the highest average level in 19 years. Buying reached such proportions that for a brief period immediately after the opening the ticker tape fell behind in reporting transactions from the floor of the exchange. Blocks of stock ranging to 10,000 shares changed hands in rapid-fire order.

Phils Make Flag Scramble In National Look Like a Breeze

By The Associated Press

The six and a half game separating the front running Philadelphia Phillies and the runnerup Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League pennant race loom bigger and bigger every day.

With the flag scramble in the home stretch, the pressure is definitely on the Dodgers while the Phils can afford to coast.

The Philadelphia whiz kids maintained that six and a half game margin by edging past the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 last night behind the five-hit pitching of righthander Robin Roberts.

The Cards' Max Lanier and Al Brazle gave up only three hits but one was a fifth inning homer by catcher Andy Seminick.

Brooklyn kept its pennant hopes alive by sliding past Ewell Blackwell and the Cincinnati Reds 3-1. Blackwell pitched a one-hitter but lost the game in the eighth inning when he hit a batter, committed an error and wild pitched home a run that broke a 1-1 tie.

With big Luke Easter as the ringleader, the smarting Cleveland Indians are moving back into the American League pennant race in the role of "spillers."

Knocked out of contention and blasted by their bosses, the Indians are out to redeem themselves at the expense of the three remaining contenders—Boston, New York and Detroit.

They began to reap revenge last night by defeating the New York Yankees, 8-7, on a three-run homer by Easter in the ninth inning.

The defeat sent the Yankees in-

Dragons and Nurserymen to Resume 42-Year-Old Grid Rivalry Here on Saturday

It was way back in 1908 that the Warren High Dragons and the Franklin Nurserymen met for their first scrap on the gridiron. Two games were played that year, the Nurserymen winning the initial one 7 to 6 and dropping the second contest 11 to 6 to the locals.

The only other season that the teams played a two-game series was in 1915 when they battled to the only tie over the 42-year period with a 6 to 6 score. The odd thing about it though, in the second bat-

Single Wing as Deceptive as T But Takes Clever Ball-Handler

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(N.Y.)—Word from William and Mary is that Rube McCray has installed a Y formation and double wing, thus giving his old reliable single wing a boost.

McCray must have some clever ball-handlers. Ball-handling is what makes football deception go, and concealment and split-second timing work in the single wing as well as the modern T.

Michigan strikingly demonstrates this year in and year out. Fullback is the key spot in the Michigan single wing.

The spinner calls for particularly skillful ball-handling. Michigan fullbacks spend many hours practicing the turn, steps and the faking or handing off the ball to either side.

This form of false representation spreads the defense or pins it down.

Jack Weisenburger of the 1947 Michigan Rose Bowl team was perhaps the greatest of them all on the spinner. In four years, Weisenburger, who weighed no more than 178 pounds at his heaviest, scored more than a dozen touchdowns from well out and set up a number of others with long runs through the middle, or in handing off to a halfback for a pass while sucking the defense in to stop him.

SIGNIFICANTLY, Michigan's best spinners, including Weisenburger, have been expert ball-handlers in baseball and basketball as well. In its perfection even a guy who knows what the play is can't spot the ball from the sideline.

That's why Michigan fullbacks, such as All-America Bob Westfall and fellows like Weisenburger, Tom Peterson and the current Don Dufek, were—and are—not of the traditional 200-pound line-crashing order. It takes a lighter, more agile young man with gifted hands to handle the spin properly.

When he doesn't hand off, the fullback, after his spin, which is timed on a count, wheels straight ahead as daylight opens up. Speed and perfect timing are the absolute essence of this play.

Good, old-fashioned blocking and tackling cannot be tossed out for ball-handling, faking, brush blocking and strategy.

But when the one is coupled with the other, the side goes places.

And that goes whether the team is running from any version of the modern T with man-in-motion or what has come to be known as the antiquated single wing.

NEW HAVEN—(N.E.A.)—Herman Hickman says that the top four Ivy League teams are as good, or better, than the best quartet in any other conference.

Hickman, the one-man traffic jam who coaches Yale, rates Cornell among the five most formidable college squads in the nation.

Rounding out the Clinging Vine circuit's Big Four, in his opinion and in the order named, are Princeton, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania.

"At one time it would have been suicidal for any Ivy team to play a Western, Southeastern or Southern Conference outfit," says Hickman, who played at Tennessee and has been around and about since.

Hickman stresses the fact that Cornell won the Ivy League championship last year and eyes national recognition this time.

"Princeton has the unbeatable combination of speed, size, depth and fine coaching," says Hickman.

"Charlie Caldwell's single wing looks as good as the old conception of that formation. His attack is full of flankers, men in motion, formations left, one man on the right of center, two on the left.

"Last year we tried to set up a defense for 32 variations in the Princeton offense. It was an impossible task.

"PRINCETON has practically the entire squad returning, with the exception of its great captain and back, George Selts."

Hickman calls quarterback Jack Clayton of Dartmouth one of the smoothest operators he ever saw in the T.

But the Big Green must get by Pennsylvania in its opener and get ready for a long trip to Michigan.

Penn has fallen slightly, the way Hickman sees it, but these same Quakers came mighty close to upsetting Army last autumn and will again be large, strong and hard boiled.

Behind Penn, Hickman lists Brown, Harvard, Columbia and Princeton.

Hickman wants to make it clear that he is not assigning Yale to the cellar because that is the usual procedure for a coach.

"We have a few fine holdovers and some sophomores full of fire," says the poet laureate of the Great Smokies.

The Elis lost 33 lettersmen, however, and as Herman... out, that figure represents just about everyone who ever played football, or for that matter ever wanted to play football in the vicinity of New Haven, at least since he landed there.

Spaghetti Dinner For Youngville Hot Stove Champs

Members of the Youngville Merchants, county hot-stove intermediate champions, were given a spaghetti dinner at 6 o'clock last evening in National Forge clubhouse. About 20 members of the team were present.

Guests at the affair were Gilbert McCullough, Metropolitan Insurance Company agent; Wyllys Johnson, president of the Youngville Business Peoples Association; and L. N. Schuler, Youngville news reporter; Dick Giegerich, manager of the team; and William Fehlman, team coach.

Preceding the dinner, prepared by Mrs. Giegerich and Mrs. Dominick Danuskie, team members worked up an appetite by playing a little baseball, resuming after the meal was served.

The Youngville Business Peoples Association, which provided the money to send the team to Tarentum for state play-offs, was host for the affair. The team, itself, was sponsored by individual merchants of Youngville, and enjoyed an almost perfect season, losing only one game.

EIGHTH LOSS IN ROW FOR LOWLY PIRATES

New York, Sept. 13—(AP)—The New York Giants blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 yesterday before a slim gathering of 4,112 fans.

It was the eighth loss in a row for Pittsburgh to New York. Sheldon Jones got credit for the win but yielded six hits while the Giants were making seven. Pittsburgh .000 000 000—0 6 1

Expect LaMotta To Take Frenchman

Detroit, Sept. 13—(AP)—Middleweight champion Jake LaMotta is expected to tame Laurent (Tanzan) Dauthuille of France tonight in a promising 15-round title bout at the Olympia stadium. Ring time is 10:00 p. m. (EST).

Back in the city where he wrestled the crown from another Frenchman—the late Marcel Cerdan—15 months ago, LaMotta rules a 5 to 9 favorite. No knock-out predicted.

With radio and television barred from this international test, promoter Nick Lodges of the International Boxing Club looks for a crowd of 13,000 to pay $100,000. If he is right, it will be a new Detroit indoor record. The old mark of $88,522 was set in 1947 for a welter title battle between Ray Robinson and Chuck Taylor.

Delegates of the National Boxing Association Convention, which ruled LaMotta or Dauthuille must give Robinson a shot at the crown within six months, will be honored guests.
